VOLUME 5
Blessed are the thankful

Blessed indeed is He Who is truly thankful for what He has - for He has found the source of real happiness on earth -

And to be pitied is He Who counts what He has not - for He has sorrow, the seed of discontent in His heart.

From which arise sorrows and needs of unhappiness -

On this annual day - let us humbly and bow our heads in thanksgiving to God for all of His blessings.
Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of a night full of frolic, laughter and cheer.
'Twas the Thirty-first of October at old Nederland High,
And hundreds had gathered from far and nigh
To help us celebrate this eventful date,
When witches and ghosts predominate.
From the lowly gypsy to her Highness, the Queen,
Such splendor! such elegance! Oh! what a scene!

Velma Rae Yentzen
Her Highness, the Queen

The first attraction of the evening was the Tiny Tots' Revue, which was held at 6:30 in the gym. The parade was divided into two divisions: the first for babies under one year of age; the second of babies from one to two years of age. Betty Jean Gallier won first place among the seven entries in the first division; and Davis Bourque, first place among the fifteen contestants of the second group. The judges had an extremely hard time reaching a decision as all the babies were very sweet, cute, and appealing.

At seven o'clock crowds were streaming into the auditorium for the program. This program consisted of: an opening chorus of five witches; a Firefly Drill by the Langham School; a Play, "A Cannibal Love Affair"; Song numbers; Readings; a short Operetta; and a Tap and Acrobatic Dance. All of these numbers were very entertaining to a large audience.

On with the show! Shoving, pushing everyone anxious to be admitted to the gymnasium, and why not? It's the County Fair! Competitions, races, and tumbling-- dress parades, and an old-time barn dance. Mrs. Hud- dleston, masquerading as an old woman, cheered the audience with old fiddle tunes. "Dad" Robin rendered accordion solos. "Ches" Chesnut called an old-fashioned square dance with Hucy Woods and his Lone Star Screenadors furnishing the music.

Two couples gave a demonstration of the "Cajun Hop".

The Physical Education Department gave a very splendid account of itself. The tumbling and wrestling went over big with the crowds.

The climax of this very eventful evening was the exquisite coronation of her Highness, the Queen, Velma Rae Yentzen, by his Highness, the King, Leonard Manning. The queen was dressed in a beautiful gown of rich white satin and dainty lace. Her slippers were satin to match her dress. (Continued on page Twelve)
ON BEING THANKFUL

Politeness to people is very common. Why not say, "I thank you", to God?
What would you take for your little finger? Suppose someone should offer you $100,000 for your eyes or hearing. You are a millionaire.

We have many things of which to be thankful. Today forms a sharp contrast with the first Thanksgiving Day of 1621. The Pilgrim Fathers, after landing at Plymouth, had a very poor harvest; but in spite of this, they gathered together and thanked God for what He had given them.

If they, in the face of starvation and despair, could find in their hearts something to be thankful for, could not we who enjoy so many privileges also be thankful? Why cannot we, the youth of to-day, enter into the spirit of Thanksgiving as David admonishes in one of his Psalms: "Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise; be thankful unto him, and bless his name".

ARMISTICE DAY

Fifteen years ago, Nov. 11, 1918, the Armistice was signed. This ended a conflict which involved practically all the world.
The young people of today probably do not remember the sacrifices and hardships that the people endured during this war. Thousands of young men—the best manhood of that time—were killed; millions of dollars worth of damage was done in Europe.

Every person should bow his head with reverence on this day, and not think of it as just another holiday.
The turmoil and restlessness of the nations today suggest that another war might occur. The business of the rationing of to-day is to see that this does not happen.

The aim, hope, and prayer of each boy and girl should be that those noble lives have not been lost in vain.
NEDERLAND DOWNS LIBERTY IN FIRST CONFERENCE GAME 26-0

The Nederland Bulldogs opened the season with a 26-0 victory over Liberty. Mouton, our flashing fullback, carried the ball 65 yards for a touchdown. McMahon ran 50 yards and Ware carried the ball over the goal line by catching a beautiful pass from Daigle. Sanderson did beautiful playing when he blocked a Liberty punt. Daigle, as usual, made the sensational plays of the game. He made two of the touchdowns by beautiful field runs. The offensive blocking and the great defensive work of Haizlip and Arnold proved to be high lights of the game.

NEDERLAND WINS 48-0 FROM DAISETTA

The Nederland Bulldogs took the Hull-Daisetta Bobcats on for a score of 48-0. Daigle made several good runs for the Bulldogs. The line did not show their ability to block very decisively and few good blocks were made. The line, however, did prove their ability to hold the line of defense. Nederland out-played the Bobcats in every position. The Daisetta team made two first downs in the last few minutes of the game when Nederland substitutes were sent in, and Nederland made eleven first downs.

The defensive work of Sanderson and Haizlip was outstanding, and Peveto proved himself to be a good field general.

DAYTON GAME CANCELLED

The Nederland-Dayton game which was to have been played in Dayton, October 20, was cancelled by the authorities of the two schools, because of the fact that both teams have a ten-game schedule, ending November 25. The two teams having the highest percentage standing at this time are to play for District Championship on Thanksgiving. This would make eleven games for the two participating teams; but due to the new rulings of the Interscholastic League Bureau, no team shall play more than ten games, conference or otherwise, including play-off games. Therefore, Nederland, and all other teams having a ten-game schedule, would be ineligible to participate in the play-off, or eleventh game.

As long as our team continues in its present stride, we expect to be one of the two teams that are to play for the District Championship. Then the only sensible thing to do was to cancel the game with Dayton.

SARATOGA FORFEITS TO NEDERLAND

The Nederland Bulldogs won their third consecutive conference game by forfeit from Saratoga. The Saratoga team felt that its light team would not offer much competition against the heavier Nederland team and in fear of injuries forfeited the game to Nederland. Our next game is with Orange at Orange, November 4th.

ORANGE IS NEXT - LET'S MAKE IT FOURTH WIN!

Tomorrow, November 4th, our team will invade Orange for their fourth conference game of the season, and from all indications, it is going to be one of those games you read about. Our boys are on edge for the test, and barring all further injuries, they are going to bring the big end of that old score back home. Rene Mouton is the casualty thus far. He says that he got too much of somebody's shoe on his shin, but we feel sure that he can't let a little thing like that keep him out of a game like this. Really, this is one of the big games on our schedules, and if drilling long hours on plays, putting all you have into your training, and doing everything that you can to get a maximum effort out of the team means anything - well, just watch our boys Saturday!

GIRLS' SPORTS

Basketball practice will begin Monday afternoon, November 20th. All girls who are interested and are passing their work are urged to come for a try-out. The team will be selected during the early part of December.

Last year fourteen games were played, winning eight and losing six. We hope to schedule equally as many this year and win even more than we did last year.

An independent team made up of Ex-Wildcats is planning to show N. H. S. how to play the Cager's Game. We know that they are well versed in the game but we hope to be able to play them a nice game early in the season. "Independents, we are getting ready for you!"

Monday, October 16, the Home Economics Department held their annual play-night. This night is especially designated as a night for pranks to be played upon the new members of the club. Games were played and light refreshments were served to the members of the Home Economics Club.

After the play-night was completed, a business meeting was held for the older members of the club and officers were elected.

The officers for the year are:

President-------- Velma Rae Yentzen
Vice-President--- Bobbie Williamson
Secretary-------- Eileen Chester
Treasurer-------- Francis Goodwin

Delegates were also chosen to attend the County Home Economics Meeting to be held at Port Neches on October 28. These delegates were: Velma Rae Yentzen, Geneva Luke, and the sponsor, Miss Newsom.

DISTRICT HOME ECONOMICS MEETING

The District Home Economics Meeting was held at Port Neches, Saturday, October 21, 1933. Two delegates from each school in the district were invited to attend. The delegates from Nederland were Geneva Luke, Velma Rae Yentzen, and sponsor, Miss Newsom.

At a meeting of the Girls' Choral Club, officers were chosen for the year. They are:

President-------- Juanita Gregory
Vice-President--- Dorothy Meadows
Secretary-Treasurer-- Marie Rienstra
Piano Accompanist-- Velma R. Yentzen

Under the sponsorship of Miss Wilkerson, the Choral Club is expecting to learn and present many pretty songs this year.

DISTRICT HOME ECONOMICS-- and sponsor, Miss Newsom.

All the delegates assembled in the auditorium for the general session at ten o'clock. A very interesting program was held, and each school was asked to do a stunt or make a report from their club. We also had an interesting speaker, Mrs. Guy Daniels, who spoke on the ideals of home making.

We visited the Home Economics cottage after the program was completed and then went to the cafeteria where a very appetizing luncheon was served.

Francis Wagner, of the class of '29, took his degree last June in Journalism at the University of Missouri with the highest honors given to advertising majors. This is indeed an enviable record, one of which any boy or girl might be justly proud.

At the present time, Francis is filling the responsible position of Assistant Manager of the Barrick Publishing Company's Cincinnati office, whose territory consists of seven states. The general offices are in Kansas City. The Barrick Publishing Company publishes the leading trade papers dealing with the commercial production and marketing of fruits, vegetables, butter, eggs, poultry, and other perishable commodities. It also publishes the Packer Red Book, a rating book which lists thousands of firms in the business of marketing these products.

It will be remembered that Francis did excellent work in high school as editor of the "Announcer," and, in his senior year, as editor-in-chief of "The Pilot", the year book formerly published by the Nederland High School.

SOUTH TEXAS STATE FAIR

NOV. 2-12 BEAUMONT TEXAS

EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF THE FAIR

Some people have very little knowledge of the educational value of the South Texas State Fair. They think it is merely a place to go and have a good time. Naturally when on goes, he expects to enjoy himself; but along with that, he should visit all educational departments and booths. Have you really ever thought of it in this light?

One of the most important exhibits is the Home Economics department which enables a girl to see the value of making and designing her own clothes, to say nothing of cooking and other valuable information concerning the home.

Second, there is the historical department in which all students should be interested. It is advantageous to know something of our ancestors, our great historians, where they lived, and when.

The Art Gallery is another educational feature of the Fair. No one can be said to be truly educated who does not have some appreciation of the beautiful in art.

Farm exhibits, such as hogs, cattle, poultry, and produce attract many visitors from the towns and cities as well as from the rural districts.

With these things in mind, we feel that more students will be benefited by the Fair this year than have been heretofore.
Seven nickel? She lost one in the "Jeff" and crawled all over the floor looking for it.

Those of you who remember Miss Lindsey's amorous advices will be glad to know that she gave as her reason for going to New Gulf this year the fact that the music teacher there have the reputation of quickly entering the unknown regions of matrimony.

A telegram was sent collect from the local office to Mr. E. V. Adams. The message read something like this "Blah! Blah! Blah! How about a line from you? Will not pay return message.

Love,
Mat and Johnnie."

We understand that Mr. Lewis, the local Western Union operator, has sent a bill to Mr. Mathews and Mr. Konecny for $1.27 for the above rejected telegram. No wonder they avoid public assembly!

By keeping our eyes and ears open we, the staff, have collected the following information, and like the big-hearted lads and lasses that we are, we pass it on to you.

Velma Rae Yentzen tells us that she and her kid sister, Marion Ruth, owe their good looks and charming personalities to that good old "Buttersplit Bread".

It is rumored that Miss Press is the most original teacher in Nederland High School. (She gets all of her ideas out of the newest books.)

There are two girls going to High School who seem to have lost something valuable at the Drug Store (the object sought has light curly hair) but for some reason or other there is a dispute as to the ownership.

What senior girl, (I think her initials are H.L.) has a crush on one of our football heroes?

And by the way, could any one tell us what attraction Pt. Neches holds for Leon and Edward? (Boys, watch the clock; it doesn't take that old hand long to got to nine.)

Say, would some one please tell us where Evelyn Luko got that diamond she's flashing in the faces of her friends (and unless directions have changed lately, I think she's wearing it on her left hand).? "This Time It's Love". (Maybe).

Did you know that Miss Wilkirson had to buy all of her 4A pupils an ice cream cone? She bet them that they could not hold their books right for one week. They showed her. But say, we'd like to know how Mr. Floyd and Mr. Wilson rated a fourth grade music class.

And by the way, would any of you who happen to go to the Jefferson be on the lookout for Miss Earlo's

Dear Fellow-Student,

Although we try very hard to please you with the paper, we do not know whether or not we are succeeding. There are only 14 of us and 181 of you, so you can easily see how you have more ideas than we do.

The thing is, fellow-student, that we would like to have your criticisms and ideas concerning the paper. We will place a box in the outer office on the second floor where you may deposit any jokes, news, or stories that you would like to put in the paper.

Come on, gang, we want to make this your paper, but we cannot do this without the co-operation of every one of you.

Obligingly yours,

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

Many firms, not realizing the opportunities which advertising in a school paper offers, are reluctant to use this medium to tell the public of their products. "The Announcer" reaches the home of every student of the Nederland Public Schools. Besides this, every individual interested in the welfare of the school receives a copy, and by means of an exchange bureau the paper is sent to all surrounding schools, as well as those in the more removed sections of the State. The paper is published solely for the experience which the student working with it get and for the good of the school and community. Co- operation of our business friends is greatly appreciated.

The Royal Family, consisting of Princesses Iris Adams, Inez Mila, Janice Williams, and Princesses Russel Vernor, Clarence Peterson, and Horace Goodwin, were in formal dress. Evelyn Netterville and Nelson Sapp were the Princess and Prince from Junior High School, and Joyce Sermons and Jack Houston from the Langham School.

The train bearers for the queen were Lillian Gardner and Tommy Lou Luke, while Billie Darold Moye was the crown bearer.

The dukes and duchesses from the different countries who came to pay homage to her Majesty were dressed in typical costumes of the country they were representing. A dance typical of each country was given before the entrance of each duke and duchess. The costumes were very elaborate. Those who represented dukes and duchesses from various countries were: Frances Goodwin, Alice Chester, Bobbie Williamson, Glyndora McCauley, Mary Frances Newton, Evelyn Luke, Marie Rienstra, Louise Gunn, Vurrell Ventzen, A. V. Hamilton, Fred Parish, Kermit Carter, Joe Kelly, and John Goodwin.

Those giving special dance numbers were: Ola Mae McCauley, Lois Bodemuller, Mary Lou Lawrence, Mary Nan Davis, Carolyn Wilson, Wynona Hebert, Norma Jean Lawrence, and Marion Creswell.

Besides the students who took part in the pageant and the faculty sponsors, Mrs. Daisy Welch and Miss Eleanor Hackworth contributed to the program. Mrs. Mac Ryder was accompanist.

A DREAM

(Miss Floy Pinkerton)

I dreamed that Mr. Wilson, Mr. Floyd, and another man were ripping out the gym floor. I was trying to blow my whistle to stop them, when an old woman came in the gym. Mr. Wilson said, "Here’s the woman we are going to bury".

She started begging that they not bury her. Mr. Floyd quit his work and came up to her. He cleared his throat and said, "Well, we have no way around it; it is required; we have to bury you. But, we will grant you one desire before we do".

With this she screamed out and then told them that she would like to have all the chili she could eat. Mr. Floyd made no reply but walked straight to the boys’ drinking fountain. He turned it on and the chili began to flow. The old woman ate all she wanted and came back on the floor.

Mr. Wilson asked if she was ready and she slowly said, "Yes, my good man, I am ready; but I want to warn you of one thing. You can bury me, but the man who throws the last shovel of dirt on me will forever be afflicted with rhumas-tism. She lay down in the "Grave" and they started throwing in the dirt. Several times they tried to throw on three shovels of dirt at the same time, but each time someone's would fall last.

Joe Monso was on the rafters in the top of the gym. Mr. Floyd said, "Joe, hold that light aside;
I'm throwing this shovel-full up there"--- and I awakened still trying to blow my whistle.
This occurred the night of the Education is the greatest asset that a person can possess. It is through education that a person achieves the height of his ambitions. Our schools furnish the greatest contribution of democracy to civilization. The schools of to-day are more honest, intelligent and efficient than any other business of like magnitude. If all other businesses were as well managed as the schools, America would reach a new level of glory.

The schools of to-day have helped America to achieve national greatness. They have set the health standards higher by teaching our youth that success comes from a sound mind in a sound body. They enable a child to discover his talents and to train them; in short, they help each child to be a good citizen and to find his place in the world and fill it to the best of his capacity.

Education enables a person to enjoy life to the fullest extent. Through the schools a wide range of life interests are discovered. Children are taught to love books and look to them as old friends. They are taught appreciation of music, art, the beauties of nature, and love of their countrymen.

America is looking to the leaders of tomorrow to lead us on to honest, intelligent and efficient government. To-day we find that business is good in the schools; tomorrow business will be good in the Nation. By living up to the motto: "Children First", America is laying the foundation for a higher standard of living.

He who knows not and knows not, is a fool. Shun him.
He who knows not and knows he knows not, is simple. Teach him.
He who knows and knows not he knows, is asleep. Wake him.
